

In My House

By Phil Norton (preachermansays.com)

In my house, there ain't no diamonds
In my house, there ain't no gold
And my house ain't no one's property
My house will not be sold

In my house, there ain't no president
In my house, there ain't no war
In my house, there ain't no children dying
Who the hell knows what for

In my house, there ain't no corporate
In my house, there ain't no greed
In my house, there ain't no servitude
The people shall be free

In my house
In my house

In my house, there ain't no gender
In my house, there ain't no race
In my house, there ain't no system
Tries to keep you in your place

In my house, there ain't no vengeance
In my house, there ain't one God
And my house ain't no religion
'Cause my house ain't no facade

In my house, there ain't no capital
In my house, there ain't no more
In my house, there ain't no losers
'Cause my house don't keep no score

In my house
In my house
Welcome to my house, people

In my house, there ain't no weapons
In my house, there ain't no fear
In my house, there ain't no borders
Because all are welcome here

In my house
In my house
